A playful motion: nya nordiska to present spring collection 2019

The textile editeur is on its best behaviour launching its new designs at Paris Déco Off in January. This is an exclusive preview of the new collection.

Flowing structures, interlaced images, organic imprints and embroideries: this spring nya nordiska presents a confident and sophisticated collection. Motion is the main topic of the fourteen novelties, reflected in playful interactions with shapes and materiality. Whether in the interplay of differing colours, light and shadow or merging shapes, the theme is apparent in the experimental design as well as in re-launched classics. In typical nya manner, the new collection is made of only the best materials: natural fibres such as cotton, linen or wool, partly finished with exclusive lurex yarn. Another major advantage: thanks to their double width, eleven articles are perfect for spacious applications.

Moreover, nya nordiska extends its range of intelligent and functional fabrics: six of the new articles are
